

Heaven's Door

Rules

Heaven's Door is a role-play game, which there are people at two sides of the door. One stands behind the door playing a role of ghost and on the other side would be ordinary people who ask any questions to the ghost behind the door, then knock a door, write down a question on a piece of paper, crumble it, and throw it to the other side of a door. Then the other side of the door, a ghost would answer by picking an answer from card with quotes of famous celebrities and hand it underneath the gap of a door.

"So there's nothing more provocative than taking a genre that everybody who's cool hates - and then making it cool."

Lady Gaga

"I try not to discriminate against genres."

Ryan Gosling

"I think about death a lot, like I think we all do. I don't think of suicide as an option, but as fun. It's an interesting idea that you can control how you go. It's this thing that's looming, and you can control it."

Ryan Gosling

"I have a very strict gun control policy: if there's a gun around, I want to be in control of it."

Clint Eastwood

"Men must know their limitations."

Clint Eastwood

"Sometimes if you want to see a change for the better, you have to take things into your own hands."

Clint Eastwood

"They say marriages are made in Heaven. But so is thunder and lightning."

Clint Eastwood

"We are like boxers, one never knows how much longer one has."
